

Very Small Countries: Economic Success Against All Odds

Dissertation

zur Erlangung des akademischen Grades eines
Doktors der Sozial- und Wirtschaftswissenschaftlichen Fakultät
der Leopold-Franzens-Universität Innsbruck

eingereicht von:

Mag. Martin Georg Kocher
Institut für Finanzwissenschaft
Martin.Kocher@uibk.ac.at Betreuung und Begutachtung:

Univ.-Prof. Dr. Manfred Gantner
Institut für Finanzwissenschaft

A. Univ.-Prof. Dr. Gottfried Tappeiner
Institut für Wirtschaftstheorie, -politik und -geschichte

Supported by VIE PETER KAISER-STIFTUNG'

Innsbruck, im Dezember 2001

contents

Preface _

wpontents

m. Introduction

. Smallness of countries: concepts and definitions _

21	Traditional concepts of size _____	11
2.1.1	Size and population _____	"14
2.1.2	Size and geographic characteristics _____	"15
2.1.3	Size and national income _____	18
2.1.4	Composite measures of size	~19
12	Size and smallness in model contexts	20
2.2.1	Small countries in international economics	"20
2.2.2	Smallness due to the utility gain _____	20
2.2.2.1	Size in absolute terms _____	"20
2.2.2.2	Size in relative terms _____
2.2.3	Smallness due to economies of scale considerations
23	Applied definition of country smallness _____	21
2.3.1	Jurisdiction size and publicly provided goods _____	21
2.3.2	An appropriate definition of size _____	23
24	Autonomous regions with limited sovereignty	27
	Does country size really matter for public sector size?	29
31	Public sector size and country size in theory _____	32
3.1.1	A simple model _____	"32
3.1.2	Further important determinants and theoretical predictions
32	Empirical evidence _____	38
3.2.1	Proxies for government size and country size	40
3.2.2	Description of data and basic statistics _____	"42
3.2.3	Multiple regressions as the proper empirical tool _	! 47
3.2.4	Regression results _____	"49
3.2.5	Per capita income and government size _____	~ 52
3.2.6	Public sector size and country size represented by GNP	"54
3.2.7	Multiple regressions with politics and geography _____	^56
33	Summary of empirical results on country size and public sector size	57

. Very small countries: organizational choice and international outsourcing
41	Organizational forms of public good provision: a positive approach	62
4.1.1	Spatial and national characteristics _____	64
4.1.2	Competition and participation rights _____	66
4.1.2.1	Participation rights _____	66
4.1.2.2	Inter-organizational competition_	67
4.1.2.3	Competition and VSC _____	67
42	Very small countries and organizational choice: a normative theory	68
4.2.1	Criteria of evaluation for organizational choice	69
4.2.1.1	Costs and economies of scale	69
4.2.1.2	Preference adequacy__	70
4.2.1.3	Other possible criteria	72
4.2.2	Comparison of different institutional or organizational forms	73
4.2.3	Theoretical predictions for the organizational choice in VSC	76
43	Organizational choice: theoretical expectations versus reality	78
4.3.1	Theoretical expectations versus reality - monetary system__	81
4.3.2	Theoretical expectations versus reality - defense__	84
4.3.3	Theoretical expectations versus reality — universities_	87
4.3.4	Theoretical expectations versus reality — airports_	89
4.3.5	Theoretical expectations versus reality — railways_____	91
4.3.6	Theoretical expectations versus reality — government levels	93
4.3.7	Theoretical expectations versus reality - foreign policy_____	95
4.3.8	Theoretical expectations versus reality - health systems	98
4.3.9	Theoretical expectations versus reality - political system	103
44	The extent and structure of international outsourcing in very small countries	108
 . The economics of sovereignty: the 'secrets of success' of very small countries		J13
51	Economic characteristics of very small countries _____	115
5.1.1	Some stylized facts _____	116
5.1.2	The predictions of economic theory _____:	119
52	Sources of welfare in VSC _____	123
5.2.1	Country size and welfare _____	123
5.2.2	Determinants of welfare in VSC _____	128
5.2.2.1	Andorra _____ ~ _____	129
5.2.2.2	Bahamas _____	130
5.2.2.3	Brunei _____	130
5.2.2.4	Iceland _____	131
5.2.2.5	Liechtenstein _____	132
5.2.2.6	Luxembourg _____	133
5.2.2.7	Monaco _____	133
5.2.2.8	San Marino _____	134
5.2.2.9	The common denominator of high-income VSC and common misperceptions revisited_____	134
5.2.2.9.1	History and socio-economic factors _____	136
5.2.2.9.2	Economic structure and specialization _____	137
5.2.2.9.3	Political systems _____	138
5.2.2.9.4	Other determinants of welfare _____	139
153	VSC versus autonomous regions of larger countries _____	140
5.3.1	Theoretical expectations^ _____	140
5.3.2	Data and first results _____	141
5.3.3	Very small countries versus small autonomous regions	^142
5.3.4	Regional differences _____	"145

5.4	A summarizing evaluation of law-making authority and sovereignty _	146
5.4.1	Pillars of very small economies_____	' 147
5.4.2	Which kind of sovereignty?_____	150
5.4.3	Another economic look at sovereignty_____	'151
5.4.4	A summary of the 'secrets of success' of VSC_	"153
[6. A new view on very small countries		155
^References		161
flist ofTables.		167
iList of Figures		168