

RECRUITING,
INTERVIEWING,
SELECTING & ORIENTING
NEW EMPLOYEES

Fourth Edition

D I A N E A R T H U R

AMACOM

American Management Association

New York • Atlanta • Brussels • Chicago • Mexico City • San Francisco
Shanghai • Tokyo • Toronto • Washington, D.C.

Contents

Preface	xi
Part I Recruiting	I
Chapter 1 Recruitment Challenges	3
How to make recruitment efforts succeed	4
How to attract and compete for qualified applicants	8
Workers' expectations	14
Offshore outsourcing jobs	16
Summary	19
Chapter 2 Recruitment Sources	22
Prerecruitment considerations	23
Proactive and reactive recruitment	24
Targeting special interest groups	25
Traditional recruitment sources	33
Innovative recruitment sources	46
Summary	53
Chapter 3 Electronic Recruiting	55
Definition of an applicant	55
Electronic resumes	57
Career websites	60
International electronic recruiting	65
Internet job boards	67
Electronic recruiting risks	68
Electronic Web sources	69
Summary	71
Part II Interviewing	73
Chapter 4 Interview Preparation	75
Job analysis	75
Job descriptions	83
The right fit	87
Reviewing the application and resume	89
Setting the stage	92
Planning basic questions	95

Questions interviewers should ask themselves	98
Summary	100
Chapter 5 Interviewing and Legal Considerations	102
Employment legislation	103
Employment-at-will and termination-at-will	110
Negligent hiring and retention	112
Federal record-keeping requirements	113
Affirmative action	115
Diversity	116
Discrimination charges	117
Questions to avoid asking	120
Applicant tracking	121
Summary	125
Chapter 6 Competency-Based Questions	127
Key competency categories	128
Job-specific competencies	130
Characteristics of competency-based questions	132
Competency-based lead-ins	134
When to ask competency-based questions	135
Developing competency-based questions	136
Generic competency-based questions	141
Summary	145
Chapter 7 Additional Types of Questions	147
Open-ended questions	147
Hypothetical questions	151
Probing questions	154
Close-ended questions	155
How to relate the questioning techniques to interview stages	156
Questioning techniques to avoid	162
Summary	164
Chapter 8 Interview Components	166
Establishing an interview format	166
Putting applicants at ease	170
Getting started	172
Listening versus talking	172
Interpreting nonverbal communication	174
Encouraging the applicant to talk	177
Keeping applicants on track	179
Providing information	180
Perception	182
Summary	184
Chapter 9 Types of Employment Interviews	185
Exploratory interviews	185
Telephone screening interviews	189
Video screening interviews	191
The human resources (HR) interview	192

The departmental interview	195
Panel interviews	196
Peer interviews	198
Interviewing less-than-ideal applicants	199
Stress interviews (how and why to avoid them)	202
Interviewing pitfalls	204
Summary	205
Part III Selection	207
Chapter 10 Documenting the Interview	209
The role of documentation in the selection process	209
Avoiding subjective language	210
Avoiding recording unsubstantiated opinions	211
Referring to job-related facts	214
Being descriptive	219
Notes versus forms	219
Documenting applicants with limited experience	221
Effective versus ineffective notes	221
Documentation guidelines	230
Summary	231
Chapter 11 Preemployment Testing	232
How preemployment tests are used	232
Testing advantages and disadvantages	233
Test validation	235
Test administration	237
Preemployment testing policies	240
Testing categories	241
Computer-based testing	249
Summary	251
Chapter 12 Background and Reference Checks	253
Legal guidelines	253
Background checks policy	257
Selecting a vendor	259
Reference checks	260
Guidelines for releasing and obtaining information	266
Reference and background checklists	268
Summary	268
Chapter 13 The Selection Process	271
Preparation for the final meeting	272
The final meeting	273
Notifying selected applicants	279
Notifying rejected applicants	280
What could go wrong?	283
Summary	285
Part IV Orientation	287
Chapter 14 The Fundamentals of Employee Orientation	289
Objectives	289
Benefits of orientation programs	291

Preparation: before the employee starts	294
Organizational orientation	297
Departmental orientation	302
How are we doing?	305
Summary	307
Chapter 15 Beyond the Fundamentals of Employee Orientation	309
The partner program	310
Online orientation	312
Blended learning	316
Onboarding	317
Best practices: sample orientation programs	322
Summary	324
Appendixes	325
A: Job Posting Form	327
B: Job Posting Application Form	328
C: Work Environment Checklist	329
D: Job Description Form	330
E: Employment Application Form	332
F: Interview Evaluation Form	337
G: Exempt Reference Form	338
H: Nonexempt Reference Form	341
Index	345