

Order Number 9225789

The German musical training of American students, 1850-1900

Bomberger, Elam Douglas, Ph.D.

University of Maryland College Park, 1991

Copyright ©1991 by Bomberger, Elam Douglas. All rights reserved.

UMI
300 N. Zeeb Rd.
Ann Arbor, MI 48106

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Section	Page
List of Figures	vii
Chapter I. American Music Students in Germany,
1850-19001 An Overview	1
Gerirany in the Second Half of the 19th century	3
19th-century German Conservatories	fi
Learning the German Language	20
Concert Life	27
Travel	32
Financial Costs	33
Conclusion	38
Chapter II. Leipzig: Conservatory and Conservatism	40
Extant Source Materials ;	42
Founding and Early Development	45
Principal Teachers	50
Statistical Overview ,	55
The American Colony in the Early 1850s	£3
George Whltefield Chadwick	70
Other American Students	79
Conclusion	80
Chapter III. Weltstadt Berlin	82
John Knowles Paine	85
The Stern Conservatory	93
Kullak's Neue Akademie der Tonkunst	101
The Klindworth/Scharwenka Conservatory	107
The KBnialiche Hochschule	113
Conclusions	120
Chapter IV. Munich: Josef Rheinberger and the
Second New England School	122
Rheinberger's Life and Teaching	123
The KBnigliche Muslkschule in Munich	127
Rheinberger and the KSniqliche Muaikechule	129
the American Group of the Early 1880s	133
Horatio Parker's Missing Diploma	153
Subsequent American Students	161
Rheinberger's Contribution to American Music	162

Chapter V. Frankfurt and Edward MacDowell
The Hoch Conservatory	170
Important Teachers	179
Significant Students	187
MacDowell's search for the perfect music school	189
Chapter VI. Dresden and Stuttgart:
Music in Mass Production	202
Source Materials	203
Elementary Divisions	204
The Dresden Conservatory	207
The Stuttgart Conservatory	210
Conclusions	219
Chapter VII. The Minor Conservatories	221
Cologne	221
Dresden	228
Sondershausen	,231
Straßburg	236
Weimar	238
Wiesbaden	243
WÜRzburg	247
Additional Schools	251
Chapter VIII. Weimar: Sitting at the Feet of Liszt	253
Source Materials	253
Franz Liszt and Weimar	256
Liszt's Teaching in the 1850s	258
Liszt's Masterclasses	260
Liszt and the Piano Repertoire	273
Conclusions	277
Chapter IX. Avenues for Further Research	280
Appendix I. Advice to Prospective Music Students from Alexander Wheelock Thayer	, 283
Appendix II. "Our Conservatories" by Hugo Riemann	. 294

Appendix III. American Music Students in Germany, 1850-1900
Explanatory Note	315
A. Chronological List by City
Baden-Baden	318
Bayreuth	318
Berlin	318
Bonn	335
Breslau	336
Coburg	336
Cologne	336
Dresden	340
Frankfurt	347
Freiburg	353
GBttingen	353
Halle	353
Hamburg	353
Heidelberg	354
Homburg	354
Karlsruhe	354
Leipzig	357
Mainz	412
Mannheim	412
Munich	413
Sondershausen	421
Stockhausen	423
Strafiburg	423
Stuttgart	424
Weimar	433
Wiesbaden	439
WUrzburg	440
Unspecified Cities	442
B. Index of Hometowns	444
C. Alphabetical Index	479
Bibliography	505