

Peter Ceiger, Arthur Brunhart, David Bankier, Dan Michman,
Carlo Moos, Erika Weinzierl

Questions concerning Liechtenstein during the National Socialist period and the Second World War

Refugees, financial assets, works of art, production of armaments

Final report of the Independent Commission of Historians
Liechtenstein / Second World War

Contents

1	Introduction	n
1.1	Putting our work in perspective: commissions of historians in other countries	12
1.2	What triggered off the action in Liechtenstein?	14
1.3	Appointment and mandate of the Commission of Historians	17
1.4	Advisory and Coordinating Committee and Board of Internal Organisations	19
1.5	Timescale and financial arrangements	20
1.6	Archival privileges and confidentiality	21
1.7	Organisation of the research	21
1.8	The state of research in and on Liechtenstein	23
1.9	Archives and sources	24
1.10	The Commission's experiences	27
1.1.1	Individual studies and final report	29
2	Historical context	31
2.1	Liechtenstein's dimensions	31
2.2	Constitution and politics	38
2.3	The economy in times of crisis and war	44
2.4	The danger of annexation and the threat of war to Liechtenstein	47
2.5	Attitudes to National Socialism	57
2.6	Attitudes to anti-Semitism	61
2.7	What was known in Liechtenstein about the Holocaust?	69
2.8	Liechtenstein's position between Switzerland and the Third Reich	75
2.9	Liechtenstein and the Allies	78
2.10	After the war	-9

3	Refugees and Immigrants	83
3.1	Refugees and immigrants in the nineteenth century and the first decades of the twentieth century"	84
3.2	The refugees and migrants of the National Socialist era	85
3.3	Liechtenstein and the refugees: periodisation of the waves, 1933-1945	89
3.4	Official policies and legislation regulating entry and expulsion of refugees and immigrants	92
3.4.1	The Swiss factor	92
3.4.2	Liechtenstein's official legislation and governmental instructions regarding refugees, 1933-1941	95
3.5	Practice and policies	98
3.5.1	Category I: Unauthorised refugees	98
3.5.1.1	Government policies on refugees trying to enter Liechtenstein without permission	98
3.5.1.2	The attitude of Liechtenstein's authorities towards refugees detected in the Principality	100
3.5.2	Category II: Residence permits in Liechtenstein	101
3.5.2.1	Official requests and usual practice	101
3.5.2.2	The influence of State institutions and persons on the decisions of Liechtenstein's Government in refugee affairs	107
3.5.2.3	Practice regarding security moneys (Kautionen)	108
3.5.2.4	Extension and termination of permits	109
3.5.3	Category III: Naturalisations	in
3.5.3.1	Procedures and practice of naturalisation	113
3.6	Popular attitudes to the refugee problem	115
3.7	Everyday life of the refugees	117
3.8	Evaluation	121
	Production for wartime military requirements	127
4.1	Industrial production for wartime requirements	127
4.2	Research sources and questions to be investigated	129
4.3	Political and economic background	130
4.4	Press- und Stanzwerk AG, Eschen	133
4.5	Maschinenbau Hilti OHG, Schaan	135
4.6	Prazisions-Apparatebau AG, Vaduz	141
4-7	The Liechtenstein authorities	145

4.8	The question of "Aryanisation" and forced labour	148
4.9	Summary	149
5	Financial assets	151
5.1	Basic premisses	152
5.1.1	German and Swiss contexts	152
5.1.2	Prevailing conditions in Liechtenstein	156
5.2	Insurance business	159
5.3	Banks	161
5.3.1	Survey of customer relations	161
5.3.2	Business relations in World War II	164
5.4	Companies	168
5.4.1	Survey of the most important institutions and personalities involved and their business connections	168
5.4.2	The viewpoint of Liechtenstein's financial clients	173
5.4.3	Relations with the "Third Reich" in World War II	177
5.5	Naturalisations for financial purposes	185
5.6	The Princely House	190
5.7	Pressure, blocking and restitution by the Allies	192
5.7.1	The Black Lists	192
5.7.2	Blocking and restitution	196
5.8	Difficulties in identifying ownership of financial assets	199
5.9	Assessment of the state of affairs	202
6	Works of art as assets	206
6.1	Subject of investigation - research into provenance	206
6.2	Liechtenstein and artistic assets in the 1930s and 1940s	209
6.3	Public art collections	210
6.3.1	The Liechtensteinsches Landesmuseum [National Museum of Liechtenstein] and the Historischer Verein für das Fürstentum Liechtenstein [Principality of Liechtenstein Historical Society]	210
6.3.2	The Postmuseum [Postal Museum]	211
6.3.3	Liechtensteinische Staatliche Kunstsammlung [Liechtenstein State Art Collection] and Kunstmuseum Liechtenstein [Liechtenstein Art Museum]	212
6.4	Private collectors and owners of valuable works of art	214

6.4.1	Liechtensteiners and their pictures	214
6.4.2	Jewish refugees and newly naturalised persons	214
6.5	The Furstliche Sammlungen [Princely Collections]	² 17
6.5.1	The history and significance of the Princely Collections	217
6.5.2	History of the Collections, 1933-1945	218
6.5.2.1	Oskar Hamel and the Bondy collection	220
6.5.2.2	The case of Lucie Mayer-Fuld	223
6.5.2.3	Individual purchases from the Dorotheum and from the occupied territories	226
6.6	Liechtenstein and art assets after the war	228
6.6.1	Rudolf Ruscheweyh	229
6.6.2	Adolf Ratjen	231
6.6.3	Josef Steegmann	232
6.6.4	Kurt Herrmann	² 34
6.7	Summary	236
7	Forced labour	241
7.1	A case with Liechtenstein connections	241
7.2	The Hungarian Jews in the Second World War	242
7.3	15,000 Jews in the hands of the SS as objects of negotiation	243
7.4	Forced labour carried out by prisoners of Strasshof camp in and near Vienna	244
7.5	Work on the Prince of Liechtenstein's estate of Eisgrub	244
j.6	Responsibility	247
8	Summing up	249
8.1	Areas of investigation stated and questions posed in the mandate	249
S.z	Situation regarding archives and research	249
8.3	Conclusions regarding financial relations, assets and "Aryanisation"	250
8.3.1	Banks	251
8.3.2	Insurance firms	252
8.3.3	Domiciled companies	252
8.3.4	Naturalisations with financial implications	— 254
8.3.5	Pressure from the Allies, account blocking and restitutions	255
8.3.6	The Princely House and "Aryanisation"	256

8.3.7	Dormant assets	257
8.4	Conclusions on the policy regarding refugees	258
8.5	Conclusions on production for wartime military requirements	260
8.6	Conclusions regarding works of art as assets and of forced labour imposed by the Germans	261
8.6.1	Works of art as assets	261
8.6.2	Forced labour	263
8.7	The peculiarity of Liechtenstein	263
8.8	What we have learned and what we would suggest	264
	List of abbreviations	266
	List of tables and graphs	268
	Sources and literature	269
	Index of names	291
	Publications of the Independent Commission of Historians Liechtenstein / Second World War (ICH)	301