

Béatrice S. Hasler

Virtual Assessment Center

A Media Comparison Study on the Diagnostic Value of Online Role-Play for Social Competence Assessment

Tectum Verlag

Table of Contents

List of Tables.....	I
List of Figures.....	III
Abstract.....	IV
Acknowledgements.....	V
1 On the Importance of Social Competence and the Need for Appropriate (E-)Assessment Methods.....	1
2 Theoretical Part	6
2.1 Social Skills and Socially Competent Behavior.....	6
2.1.1 Definition of Constructs and Operational Framework....	6
2.1.2 Conceptual and Operational Definition of Specific Social Skills: Communication and Conflict Resolution Skills.....	10
2.2 Behavior-Based Methods for Social Skills Assessment.....	15
2.2.1 The Adapted Behavioral Assessment Grid.....	15
2.2.2 The Assessment Center Method: Face-to-Face Observation and Judgment of Behavior in Simulated (Role-Play) Situations.....	20
2.2.3 E-Assessment Methods: Approaches to a Virtual Assessment Center.....	25
2.3 Administration Media for Social Skills Assessment.....	28
2.3.1 Characteristics of Face-to-Face and Computer- Mediated Communication.....	29
2.3.2 The Impact of Media Attributes on Social Behavior and Consequences for Social Skills Assessment....	32
2.4 Evaluation Criteria for the Equivalence of Administration Media for Behavior-Based Assessment Methods.....	40
2.4.1 Objectivity.....	42
2.4.2 Reliability.....	42
2.4.3 Validity.....	48
2.4.4 Utility Estimates of Diagnostic Value.....	53

2.4.5 Observer Bias.....	55
2.4.6 Subgroup Discrimination.....	59
2.4.7 Assessee Reactions.....	62
3 Empirical Part.....	65
3.1 Method.....	65
3.1.1 Participants and Design.....	65
3.1.2 Materials and Measures.....	68
3.1.3 Procedure.....	78
3.2 Results and Discussion.....	82
3.2.1 Interrater Reliability: Rater Agreement in Social Skills Ratings in Face-to-Face and Online Role-Play.....	83
3.2.2 Construct-Related Validity: Convergent and Discriminant Validity of Face-to-Face and Online Ratings of Social Skills.....	90
3.2.3 Criterion-Related Validity: Concurrent Validity of Face-to-Face and Online Ratings of Social Skills Compared with Self-Ratings on Personality Scales.....	96
3.2.4 Utility Estimates of Diagnostic Value.....	98
3.2.5 Rater Bias in Face-to-Face and Online Ratings.....	104
3.2.6 Unfair Subgroup Discrimination in Face-to-Face and Online Ratings.....	107
3.2.7 Acceptance of Face-to-Face and Online Role-Play as an Assessment Tool.....	113
3.2.8 Assessee's Affective Reactions to Face-to-Face and Online Role-Play.....	115
4 General Discussion.....	118
4.1 Summary of Key Findings and Implications.....	118
4.2 Limitations of the Study and Directions for Further Research.....	125
4.3 Conclusions.....	130
5 References.....	134
6 Appendix.....	158