

Managerial Dilemmas

Exploiting Paradox for Strategic Leadership

John Storey
Graeme Salaman

A John Wiley & Sons, Ltd., Publication

Contents

Preface	xiii
List of case organizations	xvii
About the authors	xix
PART I INTRODUCTION	I
1 Exploiting dilemmas and paradoxes through a new mode of leadership	3
Meanings of dilemmas and paradox	12
The exploitation of paradox	12
Types	14
Dilemma/paradox 1: strategy and business models	17
Dilemma/paradox 2: organizational structuring	18
Dilemma/paradox 3: performance and control	19
Dilemma/paradox 4: innovation dilemmas	19
Dilemma/paradox 5: managers' knowledge	20
Dilemma/paradox 6: organizational change	20
The role of leadership	21
Conclusions	23
Organization of the book	27
2 The nature of dilemma and paradox	29
Dilemma and paradox	29
Experiencing dilemma and paradox	31

The organizational level	33
Visualizing dilemmas	35
The subjectivity of dilemma and paradox	39
Exploiting dilemmas and paradoxes	40
Managing paradoxes	43
Conclusions	44
PART 2 THE SIX DILEMMAS AND PARADOXES	47
3 Dilemmas and paradoxes of strategy	49
Strategy and capability	50
Business and organizational models	53
Strategy and organizational design	56
Two case studies: EngCon and contract cleaning services	58
Case 1: The engineering consultancy company	60
Case 2: Commercial and industrial cleaning and support services contractors	69
Discussion	77
4 Dilemmas and paradoxes of organizational form and structuring	81
From bureaucracy to market	87
Project management	91
Process management	93
Joint ventures and alliances	97
Strategic outsourcing	98
Supply chain management	101
Networks and virtual organizations	102
Conclusions	105
5 Dilemmas and paradoxes of performance management	109
The meaning and implications of performance management	113
The paradox of control	115
The performance control process	116
The social complexity of the process	118
Types of control	119
Direct supervision	119
Technical controls	121

Administrative controls	122
Quality and Just-in-Time manufacturing	124
Incentive payments as a form of performance management	125
Self controls and social controls	126
Control and resistance	128
The vicious circle of control	129
Positive responses to controls	130
Reconciling control and autonomy	131
Performance and management systems	131
The wider context	133
Conclusions	135
6 Dilemmas and paradoxes of innovation	137
Introduction	138
Innovation issues	139
Business strategy and the management of innovation	140
Barriers and enablers	141
Exploration versus exploitation	143
The role of established cognitive structures and recipes	144
Our findings about managers' use of theory and the choice between two divergent models	146
Managers' interpretations of the nature and priority of innovation	150
Different interpretations and their consequences	152
The moral and affective dimensions	153
The illegitimacy of innovation?	154
Analyses of the source of the problem	155
Formal and informal systems	157
Informal systems	158
Organizational cultures	159
Mindsets and values	162
Approaches to innovation: a danger to be controlled or energy to be tapped?	163
Loose/tight	164
The value of searching	165
The role of leadership	165
Conclusions	166

7 Dilemmas and paradoxes of managers' knowledge	171
Fads, fashions and prevailing assumptions	174
Developing strategy: the role of executives' knowledge and thinking	177
Why are executives' ideas powerful?	179
Tacit knowledge and explicit knowledge; consensual knowledge and differentiated knowledge	180
Findings about executive managers' strategic knowledge	183
Type 1: common unexplored understandings	184
Type 2: divergent, submerged/unexplored conflicts	187
Type 3: negotiated action	189
Type 4: manifest conflict	191
Conclusions	192
8 Dilemmas and paradoxes of organizational change	195
Introduction	195
The nature and sources of change paradoxes	198
The knowledge and role of managers	199
The nature of organizations	200
The objectives of organizational change projects	201
The paradoxes of change processes	204
Why change? The relationship between organizational capacity and organizational strategy	205
Why change? Basic systems	208
Why change? Core competences	209
Why change? The adaptive organization	211
Why change? Strategic capacity	214
Key change problems and solutions	215
Key change problems: organizational capacity to change	215
Key change problems: symptoms and sources	216
Key change problems: changing how we change	218
Key change problems: changing the organization or helping it learn to change?	219
Conclusions	220
PART 3 CONCLUSIONS	223
9 Implications for leaders of organizations	225
Dilemmas and paradoxes of strategy and of business models	229

Dilemmas and paradoxes of organizing	233
Dilemmas and paradoxes of performance management	233
Dilemmas of innovation	234
The paradoxes of change	236
Cross-cutting applications and a summary of lessons for leaders	237
References	243
Index	253