

CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION

I. THE IDEA OF PEACE IN GREEK CIVILIZATION

What the West Owes to Greek Civilization	16
Ferocity and Humaneness in the Homeric Poems	18
Hesiod and the Myth of the Golden Age	23
Etymology and Meaning of the Word ELprivri —Development of Greek Religious Feeling	26
Greek Unity and the Polis . The Milesian Philosophers	28
Pythagoras	33
Empsdocles: The Principle of Love and Strife	37
Cosmopolitanism of the Atomistic School	39
The Decline of the Fatherland as Ideal	40
The Teaching of the Sophists	44
Socrates and Virtue as Knowledge	47
The Socratic Schools. Cymes and Cyrenaics	50
Plato on Peace	54
Aristotle and the Choice between Peace and War	60
Peace and Lyric Poetry	64
Peace and the Tragedians	71
Aristophanes' Comedies and the Yearning for Peace	82
Peace and the Greek Historians	90

Crisis in the Greek World. Hellenism and the Stoics	106
Epicurus and the Quest for Peace of Mind	116
The Skeptics	118
Cosmopolitan Features of Hellenistic Religion. The Amphictyonies	124
II. PEACE IN ROMAN THINKING AND IN LATER HELLENISTIC SPECULATION
The Ideological Motives behind Roman Expansion	131
Etymology and Meaning of the Word Pax	133
Pax Romana	135
Greek Influence on Roman Thought	138
Panaetius of Rhodes and the Scipionic Circle	139
Polybius and the Roman Constitution	141
Posidonius and the Role of Virtue	142
Hecato of Rhodes and the Practice of Humanitas	144
The Gracchi and the Influence of Stoicism	145
Lucretius and Active Epicureanism	146
Ciceronian Eclecticism	148
Varro and the Logistoricus de Pace	151
Virgil and the Prophecies of the Sibylline Books	152
Imperial Society: The Longing for Peace	155
Seneca and the Two Communities	157
Epictetus	161
Attitudes in the Imperial Bureaucracy. The Two Plinys, Dio Chrysostom, Publius Aelius Aristides	162
Plutarch and the Origins of War	166
The Thirtieth Dissertation of Maximus of Tyre	168
Marcus Aurelius and the Double Citizenship of Man	169
The Limits of Later Stoic Speculation	170
Philo Judaeus. The Revision of the Biblical Message	172
Apollonius of Tyana and Pagan Mysticism	174
Plotinus and Neoplatonism	175
Porphyry and Iamblichus. Julian and Themistius	178
End of Classical Speculation	182
III. PEACE IN THE OLD TESTAMENT
Salom , Peace and War in the Old Testament	185
Cruelty and Humanity in the Bible	188

A Religion of Nomads	193
The Earthly Paradise	196
The Alliances between Yahveh and the Chosen People	198
Tolerance of the Foreigner	200
Prophetic Literature - the Coming of a Messiah	201
IV PEACE IN CHRISTIAN DOCTRINE
The Message of Christianity and the Early Christians	207
The Coming of the Kingdom of God	208
The New Testament	210
Mysticism and Pacifism -n the Esrly Christian Communities	219
Saint Paul	223
Christianity and the Roman State	230
The Christians and Military Service	233
Development of Christian Thinking in the Second Century, Gnosticism	238
Millenarians and Marcionites	240
The Apologists and the Antimilitarism of Tertullian	242
The School of Alexandria. Origen	249
After the Edict of Conslantine. Donatism	259
The Abandonment of Antimilitarism. Lactantius	262
The Cappadocian and the Later Greek Fathers	265
The Latin Fathers	284
Saint Augustine and the Just War	296
Peace in Pelagian Doctrine	309
NOTES	316
INDEX	329