

Skilled interpersonal communication

Research, theory and practice

Fifth edition

Owen Hargie

m HOCHSCHULE
• LIECHTENSTEIN
Bibliothek

Routledge

Taylor & Francis Group

LONDON AND NEW YORK

Contents

List of figures

List of boxes

Preface to the fifth edition

1	Communicating effectively: the skills approach	1
2	A conceptual model of skilled interpersonal communication	13
3	Communicating without words: skilled nonverbal behaviour	43
4	Rewarding others: the skill of reinforcing	83
5	Finding out about others: the skill of questioning	117
6	Showing understanding for others: the skill of reflecting	155
7	Paying attention to others: the skill of listening	177
8	Getting your message across: the skill of explaining	209
9	Telling others about yourself: the skill of self-disclosure	237
10	Opening and closing interactions: the skills of set induction and closure	277
11	Standing up for yourself: the skill of assertiveness	313
12	Using your influence: the skill of persuasion	349
13	Working things out together: the skill of negotiating	399

x
xiii

CONTENTS

14	Working with others: skills of participating in and leading small groups	433
15	Conclusion	473
	Bibliography	477
	Name index	577
	Subject index	605