

Strategic Reconfigurations

Building Dynamic Capabilities in Rapid
Innovation-based Industries

Edited by

Stuart Wall

*Professor of Economics and Head of Department, Ashcroft
International Business School, Anglia Ruskin University, UK*

Carsten Zimmermann

Assistant Professor of Management, University of San Diego, USA

Ronald Klingebiel

Director, Centre for Strategic Studies, Anglia Ruskin University, UK

Dieter Lange

Head of Central Europe, TME, Capgemini Consulting, Germany

Edward Elgar

Cheltenham, UK • Northampton, MA, USA

Contents

List of figures	vii
List of tables	viii
List of contributors	ix
Foreword David Teece	xiii
Introduction Stuart Wall, Carsten Zimmermann, Ronald Klingebiel and Dieter Lange	1
PART I DYNAMIC CAPABILITIES AND ORGANISATIONAL THEORY
1 Leveraging dynamic capabilities: a contingent management control system approach Ian McCarthy and Brian Gordon	13
2 The impact of opposing governance systems on radical innovation: insights from the dynamic capabilities view Michael Horn and Carsten Zimmermann	33
3 Shaping the context for learning: corporate alignment initiatives, environmental munificence and firm performance Sebastian Raisch and Florian Hotz	62
4 Knowledge-based perspective on dynamic capabilities Aino Kianto and Paavo Ritala	86
PART II DYNAMIC CAPABILITIES AND STRATEGIC ENTREPRENEURSHIP
5 Strategic management theory and the state: insights from the dynamic capabilities view Dan Breznitz and Carsten Zimmermann	107
6 Resource acquisition and venture survival in the telecommunications industry Berna Polat	130
7 Growth paths and economic success Thomas Hutzschenreuter, Fabian Günther and Johannes Voll	162

8	Deploying strategic initiatives: further consideration of the flexibility–stability balance Ronald Klingebiel	192
9	A dynamic capability framework: generic types of dynamic capabilities and their relationship to entrepreneurship Einar Lier Madsen	223
PART III DYNAMIC CAPABILITIES IN PRACTICE
10	The power of fixed mobile convergence: the changes in the telecommunications industry and the role of dynamic capabilities Stefanie Düker, Silvia Boßow-Thies, Philipp Zimmermann and Dieter Lange	243
11	Strategic value chain redefinitions: operationalising the dynamic capability view Ronald Klingebiel and Dieter Lange	270
	Index	287