

Rethinking Corporate Governance

From Shareholder Value to Stakeholder Value

Editor: Roger Blanpain

Guest Editors:

William Bromwich
Olga Rymkevich
Iacopo Senatori

Contributors

Carmen Agut García
Stephen Barber
Alice Belcher
Monray Marsellus Botha
William Bromwich
Raffaella Cascioli
Rosalind Chew
Chew Soon-Beng
Lance Compa
Mirella Damiani
Michele Faioli
Luisa Ficari
Rebecca Givan
Inger Marie Hagen
József Hajdú
Laura Innocenti
Karl Koch
Attila Kun

Femke Laagland
Klaus Mehrens
Henning Meyer
Eric Ogilvie-Brown
John Opute
Massimo Pilati
Jacques Rojot
Ekaterina Ribarova
Olga Rymkevich
Iacopo Senatori
Sumanjeet Singh
Dagmara Skupień
Kees J. Vos
Ilse Zaal
Stefan Zagelmeyer
Aleksandr Zavgorodniy
Hélio Zylberstajn

Wolters Kluwer

Law & Business

Summary of Contents

Notes on Contributors	xix
Editorial	xxi
Part I
Collective Bargaining	1
Chapter 1
The Employer's Perspective on Collective Bargaining Coverage: An Analytical Framework	3
Stefan Zagelmeyer
Chapter 2
The Efficacy of Transnational Collective Bargaining: The Spanish Case	29
Carmen Agut García
Chapter 3
The Emergence of Collective Bargaining Structures in a Transformation Economy: The Example of Nigeria	39
John Opute and Karl Koch
Chapter 4
From Adversarial to Strategic Collective Bargaining: The Case of a Small Open Economy	59
Rosalind Chew and Chew Soon-Beng

Part II
Participation	69
Chapter 5
Employee Share Ownership and Workers' Participation: A Tool for Cooperation?	71
Jacques Rojot
Chapter 6
Employee Participation: A Lever of Corporate Governance to Increase the Effectiveness of Human Resource Practices	79
Massimo Pilati and Laura Innocenti
Chapter 7
Workers' Voice and Involvement in the Restructuring of Undertakings	91
Luisa Ficari
Chapter 8
The Statute for a European Company and the Polish Model of Employee Involvement	105
Dagmara Skupień
Chapter 9
Employee-Elected Directors on Company Boards: Stakeholder Representatives or the Voice of Labor?	121
Inger Marie Hagen
Chapter 10
Employee Participation and Governance: A South African Perspective	141
Monray Marsellus Botha
Part III
Corporate Social Responsibility	163
Chapter 11
Corporate Social Responsibility: An Integral Element Rather than a Bolt-On Option	165
Eric Ogilvie-Brown

Chapter 12 Conceptualization of Corporate Social Responsibility in the Context of Labor Law	175
Attila Kun and József Hajdú
Chapter 13 Corporate Social Responsibility, the Labor Market and Industrial Relations in Bulgaria	195
Ekaterina Ribarova
Chapter 14 Labor Regulation in Shareholder and Stakeholder Economies	211
Mirella Damiani
Part IV Corporate Governance and Regulatory Models	235
Chapter 15 Labor Economics, Corporate Governance, and Corporate Social Responsibility: Interfaces and Boundaries	237
Hélio Zylberstajn
Chapter 16 A Social Dimension for Transatlantic Economic Relations	255
Michele Faioli, Lance Compa, Henning Meyer, Stephen Barber, Rebecca Givan and Klaus Mehrens
Chapter 17 Investment in Human Capital in Times of Economic Crisis	271
Raffaella Cascioli
Chapter 18 Employee Board-Level Representation in the European Union: The Cross-Border Merger Directive and Its Impact in the Netherlands	283
Femke Laagland and Ilse Zaal
Chapter 19 Shareholder versus Stakeholder Capitalism	299
Kees J. Vos

Chapter 20 Top-Down Meets Bottom-Up Meets Mutuality: Governance in the NHS in Scotland Alice Belcher	311
Chapter 21 Balancing the Interests of Shareholders and Stakeholders through Corporate Governance Sumanjeet Singh	327
Chapter 22 The Employment of Executive Staff under Russian Labor Law Alezandr V. Zavgorodniy and Olga P. Rymkevich	353