

ESP in European Higher Education

Integrating language and content

Edited by

Inmaculada Fortanet-Gómez

Universitat Jaume I, Castelló

Christine A. Räisänen

Chalmers University, Gothenburg

John Benjamins Publishing Company

Amsterdam / Philadelphia

Table of contents

Introduction	1
Part I ESP/EAP in Western Europe post-Bologna
1. The state of ESP teaching and learning in Western European higher education after Bologna Christine Räisänen and Inmaculada Fortanet-Gómez	11
Part II Theoretical and educational approaches to the teaching and learning of ESP/EAP
2. Locating the ESP space in problem-based learning: English-medium degree programmes from a post-Bologna perspective Robert Wilkinson	55
3. Aligning EAP writing pedagogies across European universities: A case study from France Dacia Dressen-Hammouda	75
4. Curriculum change as a result of the introduction of the masters program: Designing and implementing a European online thesis-training course R. E. Lankamp	97
5. Tackling transfer and transferability: ESP/EAP design for learning beyond templates Ann-Marie Eriksson and Magnus Gustafsson	117
Part III Integrating content and language (national adaptations)
6. Content learning in business communication: A teaching experience within the new European framework Miguel F. Ruiz-Garrido and Juan Carlos Palmer-Silveira	147
7. Business English and the Bologna Declaration in the Netherlands: Integrating business communication practice, content and research Brigitte Planken and Catherine Nickerson	165

8. Business is booming: Rethinking business presentations in response to the Bologna Reforms Colette Gattoni	181
9. Implementing the Bologna process in Italy: A distinctive approach to language learning in domain-specific contexts Martin Solly	199
10. Learning to learn in ESP: Fostering lifelong learning in European higher education under Bologna requirements Ana Bocanegra-Valle	213
11. On the role of student research in the ESP classroom: A call for sustainable language skills Sylvana Krausse	233
Part IV English as the medium of teaching and communication: Courses for staff
12. Tuning ESP/EAP for mobility, employability and expertise: A pedagogical process of change in focus, insight, and practice Anne Räsänen	247
13. Preparing for international masters degrees at Stockholm University and the Royal Institute of Technology in Stockholm Carol Benson, Sandra Brunsberg, Rosalind Duhs, David Minugh, and Philip Shaw	267
Index	283