

Gio Ponti

IN PRAISE OF ARCHITECTURE

Translated by Giuseppina and Mario Salvadori

Preface by Mario Salvadori

F.W. DODGE

F. W. Dodge Corporation, New York !,,«>,,

Preface	vii
This Book	ix
Love Architecture	1
Prophecies for Architects	6
Architecture	7
Architecture and Others	10
The Politics of Architecture	12
Architecture Is a Crystal	29
Disappearance of the Wall	36
Architecture and Buildings	39
Personal, Mature Thoughts	41
Judging Architecture	53
Fantasy of Precisions	59
The Enchantment of Architecture	62
(Disturbing Pyramids)	63
Architecture as Art Ignores Content	65
Architecture Is Colorless	67
To Understand Architecture, Let Us Also Speak of Art	69
A (Really) Divine Definition of Art	74
Past, Present, Future	79
Modern Milan Is the Most Italian Thing in Italy	84
Architecture and Time	87
Old Architecture at Night	89
The Old Italian House	91
The Architect, the Artist	94
(Let Us Speak in Images)	104
(The Floor)	105

The Obelisk	108
(The Fountain)	112
The Staircase	114 t
Roofs	119
The Vault	121
The Balcony	121
The Window	122
The Room	124
Contributions	125
Raw Materials	128
(More about Contradictions)	137
House and Garden	141
Taste and Tastelessness	143
Women and Architecture	145
The Metier	148
Obvious Thoughts	151
The Building	154
Cards on the Table	157
Industrial Design	174
An Architectural Symposium	180
Prophecies	194
Imaginary Diary	202
Around the World	203
Maxims	229
Fifty Questions, Fifty Answers	232
Listening to the Building	241
Architecture, Religion	245
Apologia	262
Index	265