

BEYOND ECONOMIC MAN

Feminist Theory and Economics

Edited by

Marianne A. Ferber and Julie A. Nelson

Contents

Preface	vii
Introduction: The Social Construction of Economics and the Social Construction of Gender MARIANNE A. FERBER AND JULIE A. NELSON	1
1 The Study of Choice or the Study of Provisioning? Gender and the Definition of Economics JULIE A. NELSON	23
2 The Separative Self: Androcentric Bias in Neoclassical Assumptions PAULA ENGLAND	37
3 Not a Free Market: The Rhetoric of Disciplinary Authority in Economics DIANA STRASSMANN	54
4 Some Consequences of a Conjective Economics DONALD N. MCCLOSKEY	69
5 Socialism, Feminist and Scientific NANCY FOLBRE	94
6 Public or Private? Institutional Economics and Feminism ANN L. JENNINGS	111
7 Discussion and Challenges
What Should Mainstream Economists Learn from Feminist Theory? REBECCA M. BLANK	131 133

* Race, Deconstruction, and the Emergent Agenda of Feminist Economic Theory RHONDA M. WILLIAMS	144
Feminist Theory, Women's Experience, and Economics ROBERT M. SOLOW	153
Economics for Whom? HELEN E. LONGINO	158
Contributors	169
Index	173