

3a

(£
i m m

e|=3 [m
ml

3 s3) m
i i i i i ^ "o

iETI fffssafa IBM

o uemgo

ogssmiciBiragio

Brief Contents

Preface to the fourth edition	xxiv
Acknowledgements	xxvii
Guided tour	xxix
Prologue: entrepreneurship in the modern world	xxxii
Part 1 The entrepreneur as an individual	1
1 The nature of entrepreneurship	3
2 Types of entrepreneur	34
3 The entrepreneurial personality	50
4 Entrepreneurship, cognition and decision making	71
5 Taking the entrepreneurial option	94
Part 2 The entrepreneur in the macroeconomic environment	121
6 The economic function of the entrepreneur	123
7 Entrepreneurship and economic development	159
8 Not-for-profit and public entrepreneurship	180
9 Success, stakeholders and social responsibility	192
Part 3 The entrepreneurial process and new venture creation	219
10 The entrepreneurial process	221
11 The nature of business opportunity	235
12 Resources in the entrepreneurial venture	255
13 The entrepreneurial venture and the entrepreneurial organisation	273
14 Intrapreneurship	293
15 The changing role of the entrepreneur in the consolidated organisation	304
Part 4 Choosing a direction	319
16 Entrepreneurial vision	321
17 The entrepreneurial mission	334
18 The strategy for the venture	349
19 The business plan: an entrepreneurial tool	374
20 Gaining financial support: issues and approaches	398
Part 5 Initiating and developing the new venture	427
21 The strategic window: identifying and analysing the gap for the new business	429
22 Seeing the window: scanning for opportunity	441
23 Locating and measuring the window: positioning the new venture	458
24 Opening the window: gaining commitment	475

5
10*
^
■
3

25	Closing the window: sustaining competitiveness	493
26	The dimensions of business growth	514
27	Consolidating the venture	554
28	Making your contribution: researching entrepreneurship	566
	Index	586