

A Guide to

PROFESSIONAL DOCTORATES

in

BUSINESS & MANAGEMENT

Lisa Anderson, Jeff Gold, Jim Stewart & Richard Thorpe

X

USAGE

Los Angeles | London | New Delhi
Singapore | Washington DC

CONTENTS

Notes on the Editors and Contributors	vii
Preface	xiii
Acknowledgements	xix
1 The DBA and the Move to Professional Doctorates in Business and Management	1
Richard Thorpe, Lisa Anderson, Jim Stewart and Jeff Gold
SECTION A: DESIGNING AND CONSTRUCTING DBA RESEARCH	17
2 Crafting DBA Research	19
Ann L. Cunliffe, Richard Thorpe, Lisa Anderson, Jim Stewart and Jeff Gold
3 Concepts and Theory Building	35
Mark NK Saunders, David E Gray, Paul Tosey and Eugene Sadler-Smith
4 Action Modes of Research	57
Joe Raelin
5 Enacting the Action Modes of Research	77
Mike Pedler and Jeff Gold
SECTION B: DEVELOPING AS A DBA SCHOLAR AND RESEARCHER	103
6 Becoming a Scholar-Practitioner	105
Lisa Anderson and Jeff Gold
7 Researching and Working in and with Organisations	123
Paul Ellwood
8 Ethics and Scholarly Practice	144
Simon Robinson

SECTION C: WRITING UP	165
9 The Dissertation: Contributing to Practical Knowing David Coghlan and Rosalie Holian	167
10 Publishing from your DBA John Lawler	182
SECTION D: SUPERVISION	203
11 The DBA and PhD Compared Jim Stewart	205
12 Supervising John Taylor	224
Index	239