

PHILOSOPHY OF ART
A contemporary introduction

Noel Carroll

13 Routledge

Taylor & Francis Group

LONDON AND NEW YORK

Contents

Acknowledgments xi

Introduction 1

- What is philosophy? 2
- The analytic philosophy of art 5
- Analysing concepts 7
- Some peculiarities of philosophical research 11
- The structure of this book 13
- The aims of this book 15

Chapter 1 Art and representation 18

- Part I Art as representation 19
  - Art, imitation and representation 19
  - The neo-representational theory of art 26
- Part II What is representation? 33
  - Pictorial representation 33
  - Traditional approaches to pictorial representation 34
  - The conventionalist theory of pictorial representation
  - A neo-naturalist theory of pictorial representation 42
  - * Representation across the arts 49
  - Chapter summary 55
  - Annotated reading 56

Chapter 2 Art and expression 58

- Part I Art as expression 59
  - The expression theory of art 59
  - Objections to the expression theory of art 66
- Part II Theories of expression 79
  - What is expression? 79
  - Expression, exemplification and metaphor 86

|   |     |
|---|-----|
| Some problems with the theory of metaphorical exemplification | 93  |
| Is expression always metaphorical?                            | 95  |
| Chapter summary   | 104 |
| Annotated reading   | 105 |

Chapter 3 Art and form 107

|         |                                  |     |
|---------|----------------------------------|-----|
| Part I  | Art as form                      | 108 |
|         | Formalism                        | 108 |
|         | Objections to formalism          | 115 |
|         | Neoformalism                     | 125 |
| Part II | What is artistic form?           | 137 |
|         | Different views of artistic form | 137 |
|         | Form and function                | 142 |
|         | Form and appreciation            | 148 |
|         | Chapter summary                  | 152 |
|         | Annotated reading                | 153 |

Chapter 4 Art and aesthetic experience 155

|         |  |     |
|---------|--|-----|
| Part I  | Aesthetic theories of art                      | 156 |
|         | Art and aesthetics                             | 156 |
|         | The aesthetic definition of art                | 160 |
|         | Two versions of aesthetic experience           | 168 |
|         | Objections to the aesthetic definition of art  | 174 |
| Part II | The aesthetic dimension                        | 182 |
|         | Aesthetic experience revisited                 | 182 |
|         | Aesthetic properties                           | 189 |
|         | Detection or rejection?                        | 192 |
|         | Aesthetic experience and the experience of art | 200 |
|         | Chapter summary                                | 202 |
|         | Annotated reading                              | 203 |

Chapter 5 Art, definition and identification 205

|         |  |     |
|---------|--|-----|
| Part I  | Against definition                             | 206 |
|         | Neo-Wittgensteinianism: art as an open concept | 206 |
|         | Objections to Neo-Wittgensteinianism           | 2x8 |
| Part II | Two contemporary definitions of art            | 224 |
|         | The Institutional Theory of Art                | 224 |
|         | Defining art historically                      | 240 |

|   |            |
|---|------------|
| Part III Identifying art                              | 249        |
| Definition and identification                         | 249        |
| Identification and historical narration               | 251        |
| Historical narratives: their strengths and weaknesses | 258        |
| Chapter summary                                       | 265        |
| Annotated reading                                     | 266        |
| Index  | 269 |